

The Ancient Kingdom REGION of SHEBA – Nubia

African Continent Kingdoms Federation

The Kingdoms of the ancient Empire of Sheba covers the African Continent, forming the collective 1000s of descendent Kingdom Nations of Africa today unbroken, as it has for millenniums before. The Empire Kingdoms of Sheba suffered far less from the great exodus than the Sheba ancient Crown home region itself, in its late history during the 26th – 30th Dynasty.

In accordance to ancient African Kingdoms recording of that era of history, the North-Nubian regions suffered greatly the harsh climate changing combined with wars, and occupations, which lead to the exodus of complete lines forming new regions deeper within Libya, Sudan, Egypt and Chad.

Some moved towards the North-Central of Sudan, and further into Egypt, and others further South into Chad, and South-East into Ethiopia.

The vast Empire ruled from Sheba expanded forming the 100s of Kingdoms yet today throughout Africa of the ancestral lines of Nubia.

It is as such strongly believed, based on the cultures of the present day Sabha lines of Libya that they are in-fact direct lines of the Libyan region of ancient Sheba, and amongst the oldest direct descendent lines of Nubia.

Within present day Sudan, Sheba can still be located within the original Region in the North of Sudan, and a great part of the original inhabitants.

In post-modern history, the lines within present day Egypt was greatly dispersed with the construction of the Aswan Dam, and some of ancient Sheba lines assimilated becoming and integral part of the Nubians of Wadi Halfa, Aswan and New Nubia in Egypt.

A great part of the Sudanese-Nubian population assimilated with the later Arabs that came into the regions and are now a mix of Nubian and Arab bloodlines, and primary language is Arabic.

A great part of the Southern-Sudanese Nubian Lines in 1700-1800s went further South, then into Chad and Buganda, some settled in Bombo Uganda on lands presented as a gift for there efforts with the Buganda kingdom during the war against the Bunyoro Kingdom. Others went further from there to Kiberia in East Africa Kenya within lands of the Nubian Royal King (South-Sudan Royal Lines) Kasambula, in present day Kenya. As well as the many Northern-and East Sudan Nubians lines that exodus again during 1700-1800s into the region of present day Chad, Ethiopia and Niger, forming the respective lines of those regions today.

Nubians;

It must be reiterate the term Nubian in reference to these regions within the ancient lands is the reference ethnic and selfsame Tribal name of the Nubian of the Nubian Civilisation original regions. The Tribes of Africa of there respective Tribal names are as well Nubian by ethnic Race of the respective Tribal Nations of the ancestral foreparents North-Nubians of Nubia descendents, that formed that respective Tribe.

An example; the Mackay Clan of Scotland is not the ethnic race of that line, but the Clan Name of the foreparent. It is the selfsame in Africa, the tribal names are not the ethnic race name, all Africans, Negros, African-Americans, Afro-Caribbean's, Afro-European, Afro-Asians or those referred to as those of colour, are of ethnic Race, Nubians.
